Last year Lt Kempker was talking about getting a Charger or two, but that fell through. There was also talk of switching to the Magnum for the E-units. That all fell apart when MSP was test driving the Magnum at Graton Raceway. At approximately 140 mph, the brakes failed and sent the car flying through the fence and into a tree. Pieces were still hanging in the tree when I was there. Guess its back to the drawing board. They will be sweet ass cars when the kinks are worked out. Maybe I will get the chance to smash one up!

Unfortunately, the magnum would be a bit too small for use as an eunit rig (we are pushing it with using the tahoe's), but it would be great I think as a regular cruiser.

As long as were talking about cool cruisers, why not get exotic?

I would love to try out a hemi powered cruiser. I went and test drove a civi model just to get a feel for what it would be like it was an awesome ride and would run circles around our vics!! A little too small for Deboer and some others, but it worked fine for me. :)
